

I Sabella

A special person in my family was a lady called Audrey Stacey.
She lived till she was 93 years old and she was my great grandma.
I only saw her for a few years and I was very little.

She was very special because she looked after people all of her life.

When she was 14 years old her mother died and she came out of school to look after her brother and dad. She did all of the cooking and cleaning and washing.

When she was married she had children of her own. Her brother and his little boy who was three <sup>by</sup> moved in with her. She looked after her children and his. Like taking him to nursery.

She was special because all of her life she looked after other people.
